Five Thousand French Canadians Present at the Postponed Meeting.
MONTREAL, 2.—At the postponed celebration of St. Jean Baptiste Society, there were 5,000 French Canadians present. All the speakers referred to the Jesuit question and with one exception urged calmness until the agitation would blow over. Ex-Mayor Beaudry urged the French Canadians to stand firm. They were the descendants from a race of fighters and workers, and could yet be called into vigorous life, if the day should ever come when their rights were threatened by fanatics of Ontario. He proceeded to say that they were loyal to the Crown, even while they stood by their religion and their nation.

Highly Pleased With the Northwest—Some Rock Cuts Condemned.
MONTREAL, 2.—Mr. Thomas Skinner of London, one of the directors of the C. P. R. passed through the city yesterday on his way to England. He is highly pleased with the prospects of the Northwest. The work on the Thompson river section of the C. P. R. was severely criticised by him. He considers it a disgrace; he says the rock excavations are carelessly done, that large boulders and ledges of rock are allowed to remain overhanging the track and there is a possibility of a catasrophe, unless remedied at once. It is his opinion that there must have been much plunder made out of this section. Mr. Skinner says that the Government should put it in proper order.

J. T. Cable Arrested.
WINNIPEG, 26.—An officer of the N.W. M. P. at Calgary arrived in this city yesterday with a warrant for the arrest of J. T. Cable, charging him with having stolen some 60 head of horses. It appears that the theft took place between the 16th of May and 16th June, three years ago. The animals were driven across the line and disposed of in the United States. There are others who are said to be implicated in the matter and one of these parties gave the thing away a few days ago, which resulted in Cable's arrest. Cable has been at the driving park for some time getting his horse "Idaho" into shape for a meeting on Friday, and his arrest was a great surprise to him. He is now under Governor Lawler's care, but he will be taken to Calgary today.

Presented With an Infernal Machine.
LONDON, 26.—The manager of Madame Tussaud's famous wax works exhibition received a package Monday which at once excited his suspicions from the circumstances under which it reached him. The package was opened, therefore, with the utmost care and found to contain an infernal machine. Russia and Italy.
LONDON, 26.—The Russian censorship of the press has redoubled its vigilance in the past two weeks and is now so rigorous that items of news which came by telegraph from St. Petersburg or elsewhere in the Empire are of the mildest and most colorless nature. Everything of a political nature is now forwarded by Russian correspondents by mail as far as the German frontier, whence it is telegraphed. Such news as is allowed to filter through in this way confirms reports heretofore received of the strained relations between Russia and Italy and indicates that the Italian ambassador at St. Petersburg finds himself at the Russian court in a position that is all but unbearable.

The rioters finding it impossible to break down the barricade set fire to the house and departed. The occupants of the house narrowly escaped with their lives. From the director's residence the mob proceeded to the house of the mayor, which they treated in a similar manner. Every shop in the town is closed, and the inhabitants are in panic stricken.

The town was in consequence in an excited condition and many of the wealthy residents were getting their property together preparatory to leaving the place.

Railway Accident.
LAFAYETTE, Pa., 27.—A terrible triple collision occurred near here yesterday. Two freight trains going in opposite directions collided with another which was standing on a bridge. About 20 cars were thrown into the river. The last car to go over the bridge was loaded with lime, and it was scattered all over the wrecked cars, setting them and the bridge on fire. The conductor describes the screams and yells of the imprisoned men terrible in the extreme. Up to 8 o'clock ten dead bodies had been recovered. It is almost certain that from 25 to 30 people were killed in the wreck. The water where the accident occurred is about 12 feet deep, and it is expected that ten or twelve bodies are at the bottom, held there by the wreckage.

Kentucky Mob Rals.

SHEPHERDVILLE, 28.—At one o'clock this morning a mob entered the jail and demanded the keys of the cells of the two murderers Ardell and Mitchell, who on June 19th shot and killed Peddler Layne while trying to rob him. Janier Bowman took his stand at the entrance with a shotgun, but the mob soon overpowered him, and his wife thinking he would be murdered, came forth with the keys. Bowman pleaded with the men not to take Mitchell, as he believed he was innocent. They left Mitchell in his cell, but warned him of his future and told him he could thank him for saving his life and that it was their intention to take both. After they had securely fastened Ardell, a command was given to march, and with curses, oaths, and yells, they left with the doomed man. Nothing could be learned as to the direction taken by the mob, as they commanded all to remain behind.

An Ocean Disaster.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., 26.—For several days past there have been evidences of some ocean disaster in the washing ashore, on the sands of wreckage. Today a bundle of women's clothing, evidently done up in great haste, was picked up on the beach at Hightstown, and a life preserver that came from the City of Rome was also found. Considerable wreckage painted a green and slate color is coming ashore on the island. Among that found at Smith's point today were eight mouldings in considerable quantities, one large door with three round glass circular top lights, one window sash evidently belonging to some steamer and also the steamer Victoria's bills of lading, wine, cards of the steamship Haytian Republic were washed ashore at Nantucket today. A mast about two feet in diameter, square rigged, with wire rigging, was also found with the wreckage at that point. Everything points to a collision between the Victoria and the Haytian Republic, although the life preserver belonging to the Rome adds to the mystery enveloping the supposed disaster.

CRITICISM ANSWERED.

The Nor-West Farmer and Miller of this month refers to a recent article of ours in which reference is made to a lot of highly bred cattle sent from Hillhurst to Mr. Cochran in the Northwest. In speaking of this fine lot of animals we referred to a few Red Polled Aberdeen Angus which were in the lot and which we said we had not heard of before, and we noticed that Mr. E. Cochran who was in charge of the herd had explained that the reds are purely the offspring of the blacks and are now being cultivated at Hillhurst as separate and distinct strains of Polled cattle.

The Nor-West Farmer and Miller says, with a dash of sarcasm:—"Is this a cold fact, or has the Northwest papers become now for the first time aware of the existence of a red Polled breed?" We answer, No! The Calgary Herald was aware of the red Polled Sussex breed of cattle, and that too before the Nor-West Farmer and Miller was born. But not until the other day had the Herald become aware of a Red Polled Aberdeen or Angus breed being in existence as a distinct strain. And if the Nor-West Farmer and Miller knows of such a strain being in existence, will he kindly say where.

NEW NATIONAL POLICY.

It is now nearing twelve years since the writer, who was at that time engaged as an inspector for one of the great English Loan Companies doing business in Canada, having occasion to visit the frontier towns of our own country and those of several states of the Union, had his attention forcibly drawn to the great difference in the life and prosperity which existed in American towns as compared with Canadian towns, which were just as well situated in every respect as the towns on the other side of the border, with the one exception, that our towns had not so great a territory at their back as the bustling thoroughfares of our cousins had. We stopped to enquire what it meant and if the evil could not be remedied, we concluded that it could and that the cause and cure were not far to seek. We saw our farmers and gardeners near the line crossing the ferries and bridges of the States and selling their truck to feed the thrifty mechanics over there, and bringing back the goods made by these mechanics in exchange for their garden stuff. We enquired further and found our produce merchants and dealers in our inland towns doing the same thing on a larger scale. We saw the American towns building up and the people getting wealthy, while the Canadian towns were at a standstill, farm property low in price and much of it heavily mortgaged which we learned by our employers and other companies lending millions of dollars on farm security at high rates of interest, averaging nine per cent. (now loans average about 6 per cent on the same securities.) We believed the cure of the evil was in following the example of our neighbors in protecting our industries against the United States as they had done against Britain and the Continent. We propounded our theory to a leading journal in Canada, and were allowed to use its columns. We endeavored to show how protection did build up the United States and would build up Canada, while free admission of food was protection to English manufacture, that her manufactures had attained such strength that up to that time they were invulnerable. That Cobden's abolition of the English corn law had enabled England to outstrip all the world in the race for wealth from manufacture. Sir John Macdonald, who was rather a free trader than otherwise, and is yet on fair terms had from time to time reduced the customs duties, when through the wise administration of public affairs he could do so till they went down to 15 per cent on most things. The shrewd old statesman saw the lethargy and inertia which prevailed in Canada, relieved at the time from the toils of office he studied closely the situation. Meeting him one afternoon as he was driving leisurely with his pony and phaeton on a quiet street near his private residence in Toronto, we ventured to broach the subject of protection. Never too self adoring to consider suggestions from the humblest sources he treated the matter thoughtfully.

We continued to write and the matter drew increased attention, till the glorious victory of the 18th of September 1878, had infused new life and new energy into the country and placed the grand old man at the helm of public affairs again. What is the result? Interest is reduced one third, the value of farm land has gone up, our villages have become towns, our towns cities, and our leading cities have shown a growth and advancement and accumulation of wealth such as but few cities of the world can boast of. Our steamship lines and railways have increased and extended till they have become the admiration and envy of old nations. During all the battle for protection there was but one argument in the mouths of anti-Canadianists that had any force. That was the then limited market which Canada could control, so far as was positively known. The manufacturing powers of the East are now said to be about equal to the demand there, and if there was no new market possible, manufacture would have to call a halt. But, thanks to the policy of the government and the prowess of the C. P. R., an iron shaft has been thrust through the very heart of the greatest undeveloped country in the world. A work the possible results of which the C. P. R. did not fully understand. They knew they were building a short route from England to the Pacific countries, a great military and commercial highway across the continent; but they evidently did not fully understand the magnitude of their own vast undertaking. Now the developing of this great country to make a market in it for the goods made and that may be made in our own country and to make a market in our eastern cities for the untold millions of beef, pork, butter, cheese and wheat, wool, horses etc. that can be produced here is the new national policy to be worked out. Quebec and Ontario should become to the great Canadian West, what New England is to the Western States, and the Canadian West be to the Eastern Provinces what the Western States are to New England and with Sir John's permission, we will tell him how to do it.

The Public School.

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

The closing exercises of the term at the public school were held as announced in the Central School building on Friday, and occupied the whole day. The programme consisted of an examination of some of the classes in each of the four rooms, the time being about equally divided. A number of visitors were present both morning and afternoon, and evinced by their close attention, as well as by their remarks, the interest they felt in the work.

The Entrance Examination was concluded in the morning, in the principals room. While the public exercises were in progress in the room below.

This may be said to have been the most largely attended, most interesting and most important occasion of our school. The advance aimed at, and it is hoped, taken in the curriculum of study; following so successful a term's work, makes an era in our educational history of greatest interest. This fact was felt and alluded to by more than one of the speakers.

In addition to those nine particularly identified with the school and its interests, a number of the clergy were present and contributed to the interest of the occasion by their encouraging remarks.

The people are to be congratulated on the character of their school, and the teachers and scholars also on the hearty recognition of their honest and faithful efforts.

The following is a list of the successful candidates at the recent high school entrance examinations, as passed by the local examiners. Their names will now be submitted to the Board at Regina for their approval. Of the twenty-eight candidates who presented themselves twenty-four were successful. Papers were set on ten different subjects; on each of which the candidate was required to make at least 257, and not less than 400 marks on the whole, out of an obtainable total of 1,000.

Excursionists Happy.

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

The following gentlemen who came to Calgary on the last of the Ontario excursion, called at the Herald office before reporting, and asked to have their statement published in our paper to the effect that they were entirely satisfied and indeed pleasantly disappointed with all they saw in the country, and through this medium to offer their sincere thanks to the committee and citizens generally for the honest, courteous and obliging manner in which they had been treated throughout. Their names are Joseph Boydton, W. A. Gibson, Ottawa; John D. Urquhart, Morris Creek, Ont.; Foster Armstrong, Pembroke; Dr. J. D. R. Williams, Cardigan; John Cameron, North Bruce; A. White, Guelph; R. C. McCulloch, W. Quinsey, Gananoque; J. S. Bray, Madoc; Edward Jones, Oxford Mills, Leeds, Ont. They also stated every excursionist whom they had met were alike loud in their praise of the country and the reception they had met with. On being asked how this country compared with Manitoba and the eastern part of the Territories, they stated that they believed Manitobans had some as good features as this country; for instance, the soil was as good as possible, but it did not combine all the requirements of a good country as we are satisfied now that this section does. From the time we left Portage la Prairie we did not see any grass or grain to compare with this district, until we came within 150 miles of Calgary, the country seemed dry and withered up, but from that distance east and both north and south we have noticed a marked improvement. We have seen enough to satisfy us that Alberta will soon be the garden province of Canada. We have seen by the records of the government meteorological office at Calgary, that the climate is as temperate as the most favored parts of Ontario. We find the soil rich, the water pure and abundant, lumber not at all dear, considerable timber scattered along the streams, coal almost everywhere, the prairie rolling, no marshes to make it unhealthy and the air so clear when there is no smoke, that the mountains can be seen 100 miles away quite plainly. Have you taken up land, or do you propose doing so, we asked? They said they had either done so or would do so for themselves for their sons and that they believed these excursions would result in an immense emigration from the eastern provinces in the near future.

A. F. & A. M.

(From Saturday's Herald.)

A special meeting of Bow River Lodge, No. 28, G. R. M., A. F. & A. M., was held in the Masonic Hall, Calgary, last night, in consequence of the visit of the most worshipful the Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Manitoba, Rev. Canon O'Meara. The attendance was not large. A very interesting and instructive address was delivered upon the principles of Masonry, by the G. M. The absent members missed a rare treat.

Court of Revision.

(From Friday's Daily.)

The Court of Revision resumed its labors at 2 p. m. yesterday in the Council Chamber. The first case taken up was a complaint that the assessment of John G. McCallum, contractor, was too low, and that one lot had been omitted from the assessment altogether. The amount for which he had been assessed was $1,900, and it was raised to $3,000, and thus by a stroke of the clerk's pen the ex-councillor was made quite wealthy.

The Canada Northwest Land Co.'s case was next taken up. Mr. J. A. Loughheed barrister appeared for the Co., but did not add anything to the evidence given by Mr. W. F. Ramsay at a former sitting. Mr. C. Sparrow the assessor was examined as to his valuation of the lots, on which the Co. had made complaint, the court then proceeded to revise the amounts on several of the outlying lots of the company quite a number of the lots assessed at $40 were reduced to $30, and some assessed at $30 were reduced to $25. The total amount of reduction is only a few hundred dollars. As this finished the business of the Court for the year, the Court adjourned.

Calgary's Agricultural Fair.

We are in a position to state that at the Agricultural Fair which will be held at Calgary on Wednesday and Thursday, October 9th and 10th. There will be offered in prizes to exhibitors, the sum of $2,000. All persons interested in agriculture are invited to become members. The membership fee is placed at the low price of $2.00. All members have the right to exhibit without paying any fee. Prize lists and all necessary information can be had on application to the secretary, Mr. Charles Sparrow. The Society are glad to be able to announce that arrangements have been made with the Canadian Pacific Railway for reduced fares at the time of the exhibition.

To the Farmers.

As everyone who owns any land in the country is interested in bringing in good settlers, thereby increasing the value of their own property. It is important to have from year to year fair samples of the grain grown here and keep a record of the year, date of sowing, reaping, quantity raised per acre etc., so that when persons visit the district with a view of farming, the best possible proof of the character of the country can be shown. A couple of farmers were kind enough to furnish us with samples of last year's grain which we kept on exhibition in the Herald office during the stay of our Ontario friends. All of whom took great interest in them, every one who was returning east seemed anxious to take samples of Calgary grain with them. We would suggest to the agricultural society that one of the best things they could do in the interest of agriculture would be to establish at once a cabinet where samples of each year's grain would be kept. It would be the best kind of an historical record.

An Irish Footman's Wonder.

(From Friday's Daily.)

Mrs. Hollowell was a very pretty and amiable widow, but she had a sorrow. She had arrived at the critical period when age shows its marks upon the face, and especially in the frost it sprinkles upon the hair. She resolved to dye the latter, and for that purpose made arrangements with a certain tonsorial artist, Mr. Donegan, who, at her request, was to meet her at ten o'clock at night, to avoid observation, and in the privacy of her own boudoir, restore her hair to a jet-black hue.

She had agreed to attend a party that night, and, of course, was anxious to have the hair-dyer prompt. At ten o'clock she was awaiting him, eager for his appearance.

The bell rang, but the hair-dresser did not present himself before her. She sent down her maid to make inquiries of Matthew Riley, the Irish footman, who also officiated as attendant at the door.

"Who was it rang?" asked Charlton, the maid.

"A blackguard," replied Matthew Riley.

"Who?" asked Charlton.

"An impudent blackguard," replied the footman. "Beside if it wasn't for fear of the police, I'd thrash him better."

"What did he want?" continued the maid.

"Want, is it? Want? Sure I'll be after telling ye, as ye're so curious, for it's myself asked him the question, replied Riley.

"Well," said Charlton "go on."

"Well," says I, "what do you want this time o' night, my fine fellow?" "I'll tell your missus," said he. "Divil a bit," says I, "till ye've told me first. 'My business is with the lady,' says he. 'It will keep warm till to-morrow, then' says I, 'for divil an inch you'll get in till I know what you want.' Can you keep a secret?" says he. "Can a duck swim?" says I. Upon that he came close to me, and says he—"but arrah you won't believe me."

"Indeed I will," said the maid.

"Well, then," says he, "I come to die here." "Die here!" says I. "Yes," says he. And where would you wish to die?" says I. In your missus's room," says he. So with that I kicked him down the stairs.

"Indeed! then you have done wrong," said Charlton, ready to die with the laughing.

"But be dad, he come back just now," resumed Riley, "and says again as pert as may be, 'Tell your missus I'm come to die here.'"

"Well what did you say?" asked Charlton.

"What did I say!" exclaimed Matthew; "sure I said what every honest man would."

"And what was that?" she asked.

"Be jabers," said I ye're nothing but an idiot; and you'll not die here. Go somewhere else and die, you scamp of the world! Die here, indeed! So for the second time I knocked him down the stoop; and, be dad, I'm thinking he'll never come here again to die."

The mistake was so ludicrous that even Mrs. Hollowell laughed at it, although to her it was a serious disappointment.

A Word About Fences.

It is not practicable to give advice about fences that will apply equally well to all sections. The question, "Which is the cheapest farm fence and the one best adapted to general use?" is answered in various localities in various ways. There are still a few districts where the old fashioned rail fence is yet in use, and doubtless for the reason that it is deemed the cheapest for that neighborhood. Posts and rails are but another form for a rail fence. Near by in the same vicinity the common board fence will be in use for the same reason. Wire fences are quietly making their way into use and are effective in turning stock, but when broken are a little difficult to repair and the bars frequently injure animals.

An osage hedge has both good and bad points. It is quickly grown, is effectual in turning stock, it attracts and affords a refuge for birds which are useful in destroying insects, protects stock to some extent from the heat and cold, and if properly cared for and pruned is a beautiful thing in itself. Besides this, it is cheap and durable. On the other hand its rank growth and spreading habit make it objectionable to many, and unless one is determined to keep it within proper limits and willing to devote the time and labor necessary for keeping it in good shape its use is not advised.

Worthy of Note.

Seeds which have very hard shells may be benefited much before sowing by soaking in water for a few hours.

Farm yard manure is the most perfect, although not the richest, of manures.

A stake should be used for holding young trees until the summer season opens or until the trees become firmly rooted.

Naturally puny lambs are too often the result of bad management. They are the progeny of over fed ewes, and will have to be taken care of by the shepherd as a reward of his poor policy.

Every young weed that comes up and is cut down is one weed less to go to seed.

Garden and Forest quotes this simple method of testing the quality of a pear: Write a name with pen and ink upon the dry skin of the fruit. If the ink is quickly absorbed, leaving clear, sharp lines, the quality of the fruit is good; if the skin does not absorb the ink quickly, and the lines are blotted, the quality is inferior.

MANGEL WURZEL AND SUGAR BEETS

Experiments Conducted at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

In a report of the experiment with mangel wurzels, consisting in the trial of varieties only, at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station, the following statements appear:

Five varieties of mangel wurzels and one of sugar beet were obtained. The ground selected for the experiment is a rich alluvial bottom, which had been in clover. The soil was prepared immediately before seeding. The seeding was done with a hand seed drill on the 2d and 8d of June. At the time of the second weeding the plants were thinned to about eight inches in the row; the rows were two and a half feet apart. The crop was harvested and stored Oct. 14 and 15. The total product of each variety was weighed separately and the area of the plot carefully measured.

The varieties selected for trial were Yellow Globe, which yielded at the rate of 21,368 pounds per acre; Lane's Imperial Sugar Beet, 23,400 pounds; Golden Tankard, 23,820 pounds; Long Red, 29,880 pounds; Red Globe, 13,886 pounds, and Yellow Ovid, 23,160 pounds per acre. With two exceptions, the rate of yield per acre of the plots was very uniform. The two exceptions present the two extremes in yields, the one being the least yield, produced by the Red Globe, and the other being the greatest yield, produced by the Long Red. The Long Red also gave the largest yield from the selected two square rods, being at the rate of thirty-five tons per acre. The smallest rate of yield from two square rods was of the Yellow Globe, it being but little better from the selected part than upon the whole plot. The Long Red is the easiest to harvest, the greater part of the root being above ground. Lane's Imperial Sugar is mostly below the surface of the ground, and is the most difficult to pull out.

The crop was stored as harvested in a frost proof barn cellar, from which they were fed daily to the dairy cows. They were piled in the cellar to a depth of six feet, and kept perfectly all winter and spring, affording an excellent food for the cows until fresh grass was obtainable in the spring.

Dairy Farming.

The best advice that can be given to a person who wants to go into dairy farming on an extensive scale is to visit some of the largest farms in his vicinity where that branch of farming is carried on, and to observe the methods of those who are successfully prosecuting the business. Very much more that will be of advantage can be learned in that way in a few days of observation and inquiry than from any instructions that can be given or that can be derived from books. One of the things that should govern in deciding such a question should be the natural adaptability of the farm to stock raising, rather than to growing grain profitably. Again, dairying is usually the most profitable where there is a near and ready market for milk.

The neat, commodious offices in the HERALD block, recently occupied by Messrs. Pettit and Ellis, are to rent. Apply to A. Lucas.

Swine Manure.

Professor Henry, in a paper on the making and using of manures, concludes with the following:

First. To have rich manure we must supply our cattle with rich food.

Second. The value of the manure depends more upon the feed than the animal.

Third. Milch cows take out more fertility from the food than other kinds of stock; growing stock next, and working and fattening animals the least.

Fourth. Very rarely does the fertility taken out of the feed by our live stock amount to one-fourth of that in it, and it may be one-twentieth.

Fifth. Nearly all the phosphorus is in the solid portion of the excrement, while the nitrogen and potash are in the urine; hence, if we allow the urine to go to waste, we have only one of the three valuable elements left in any quantity in what remains.

Sixth. In buying feeds we should always have in mind the manurial value that they contain, as well as the feeding value.

Care of the Young Chicks.

Remember that during the first twenty-four hours the chicks do not really require any food. The hen should be thoroughly cleaned of vermin with insect powder and placed with her brood when all are hatched. Bread crumbs and chopped egg may now be placed within her reach. For a day or two don't trouble the flock with over attention. A good mother is one which doesn't fuss much but attends to hovering and keeping the chicks warm—for warmth is absolutely essential. After the first two days the hen may be cooped, the chicks being allowed free egress. The coop should stand on a dry, sheltered run, out of cold winds, on sandy soil, if possible. If the coop is under cover, sunlight should be secured through glass.

Seven Reasons Why the Breeding of Swine in Large or Small Numbers is the Most Universal of Any Stock Interest in the Country.

First, the farmer can engage in swine breeding with less capital than in any other; second, his returns come in quick and often if properly managed; third, the product always finds a ready sale, and generally at fair prices; fourth, the hogs will convert into money much on the farm that would otherwise go to waste; fifth, there is less risk from loss, if attended to as they should be, than in other branches of stock growing; sixth, no animal that is reared on the farm will show a more marked difference in looks or a greater variation in profits than the hog with judicious breeding and feeding, or with the careless, slip shod way that he is often handled; seventh, cheaper help will care for him.

Now, $40 judiciously invested will purchase three good full blood shoats—a male and two females. The balance of the first cost will be the rearing until they are sufficiently old for breeding; they should raise the first litter at 1 year old, and be kept as long as they breed profitably. Do not kill the goose that lays the golden egg, as you, old sows are better mothers, and the pigs from mature sows are better, stronger and less liable to injury; now, every year save a few of your best young sows, and when they raise their first litters then select again, and save the best of these, and so on.

Often two litters a year can be raised; although, to sell for breeders some prefer only one. Now, as to time; the arguments are about equal, in spring or fall pigs. The spring pig gets to market quicker, but it takes more expensive food, and the risk at the time of birth, if they are as they should be farrowed—early, is greater, while the fall pig, if properly fed, can be raised very cheaply through the winter, and in the spring can be turned on the clover as soon as it starts, and he will make a nice growth for several months, or until you wish to finish him with corn.

The use of pork for eating and lard for cooking and other purposes, is so general the world over that it makes a steady demand for hog products at remunerative prices. The hog will utilize much on the farm that might go to waste. Now, this is particularly the case with the small farmers, whose name is legion. Take pumpkins, squashes and small potatoes; buy a kettle, build an arch, and cook them; mix in bran, shorts and rye, and your hogs will grow fine until you finish with corn.

The marked difference in different ways of following swine breeding, by the selections of breeders, proper feed, etc., you will secure a hog well proportioned, square and blocky, and a good seller, while the want of proper care in these respects will give you the original land shark or prairie pointer, which buyers usually pass by, and the raiser generally curses, and says swine breeding does not pay. Alluding to cheap help, we find on many small farms boys that can attend to feeding and preparing food for hogs. Very often the grandfather is spending his declining years with a son or daughter on the farm, and although not able to do hard work, still has no desire to be idle, and is one of the best to look after the wants of the hog or the pig; and the cash received as the result of his labors oftentimes pays as well as from many other larger outlays on the premises.

The above, which cannot fail to interest farmers of limited means, is gleaned from Western Agriculturist's prize essay on "Swine Breeding."

WANTED—A good strong boy to work in the HERALD office.

THE WEEK'S LOCAL NEWS

Wednesday.

Mr. Wm. Hendrie, of Hamilton and Mr. A. D. Braithwaite started on a trip through the south country this morning. They will visit several farms and ranches, pulling up at Mr. Fred Stinson's, returning to Calgary on Saturday evening.

In the case mentioned yesterday where Mr. McNaughton had some $200 stolen from him, Pat Kennedy, the thief, was tried before Captain McIlwain yesterday afternoon and sent up for trial at the Supreme Court at Calgary in July.

Mr. Morden, of Vanward & Morden, dairymen, had a slight runaway yesterday. The old gentleman was heard to reason thus: "It's no use crying for spilled milk," and consequently took the accident quite philosophically.

It is proposed to hold a public shooting match at Calgary rifle ranges on Dominion Day. A subscription is being taken up to provide prizes. The match will be conducted under the association rules. We expect to be able to give full particulars in a day or two.

Major Walker has received a carload of anthracite coal from Mr. Brinkerhoff's mine at Canmore. In addition to the railway tests which have already been made of this coal, The Calgary Electric Company will make a test of a few tons of the above carload in their furnaces at once.

The baseball match between the cricket and base ball clubs will take place Friday afternoon. The game will start at 3:30 sharp. A tent will be provided for the ladies and benches for the audience. The players on each side are requested to be on the grounds not later than 3:15 for a little practice before the game starts.

In connection with the prayer meeting at Knox Church tonight at 8 o'clock, there will be an ordination service, for the ordaining of Mr. Robt. Johnston, Presbyterian Minister, of Pine Creek, to the regular work of the ministry. Rev. J. McLean, of Great Village, Nova Scotia, will preach the sermon, Rev. A. J. McLeod, of Banff, will address the newly ordained minister.

Mr. William Baillie, late editor of and partner in the Calgary Tribune, whose health failed some three months ago and who had to give up business and go to Toronto for treatment, passed through Calgary on No. 1 express this morning on his way to the City of Vancouver, where we believe he has taken an important position on the staff of the "World." Mr. Baillie appears to have entirely recovered, looks well and says he feels thoroughly himself again.

A meeting of the Presbytery of Calgary has been in session today in Knox Church. Among other business Mr. R. Johnston, missionary at Pine Creek, who completed his studies in Knox College, Toronto, this spring was examined in the prescribed subjects, and having passed the examination creditably, was licensed to preach the gospel. The ordination will take place tonight. Progress was reported in church building and in Home Mission work at various points within the presbytery. Rev. J. C. Herdman gave in his resignation of the office of Clerk, which was finally accepted, Mr. H. agreeing to continue as Chairman of the H. M. Committee in the meantime.

Mr. Sandy Watson the genial and popular caterer for the public appetite, whose house on Pine creek bottom, Macleod trail, fourteen miles from Calgary has for some years been the point to which all travellers in that section have aimed to reach for meals or lodging, has changed his position slightly. He has left the old stand on the bottom and moved to the house on the hill lately occupied by Mr. John McLaughlin. The new stand occupies a commanding position, giving a fine view of the surrounding country and will be freer from mosquitoes than any low place can be. He is now enlarging and improving the premises so that the comfort of guests can and will be carefully promoted. The reputation of Mr. Watson as a "Host" is such that it is not necessary to say more than to let the public know where he is located, and they, in the language of Eli Perkins, will "go there."

Thursday.

The Court of Revision which sat at 7 o'clock on Wednesday evening, was adjourned and resumed its sittings at three o'clock this afternoon.

A. E. Shelton, J. P., coroner and ex-mayor of Calgary, started by No. 2 express this morning for a trip to the East. We understand that it is Mr. Shelton's intention to make quite an extensive tour through the province of Ontario in the interests of emigration from that part of Canada to the district of Alberta.

J. A. McMillan, D. L. S., has just come back from the north country. He reports fearful fires in the timber limits lying between the Red Deer and Saskatchewan rivers. He reports that most of the timber round Buck lake, Battle lake and Pigeon lake is said to be destroyed. The fires have been burning more or less there for a couple of months.

We are informed that a man named McKinnon got his leg broken on the Military Colonization Ranch yesterday. He was on horseback, separating cattle, when his horse fell, throwing Mr. McKinnon off. The horse fell on top of Mr. McKinnon and broke his leg. A medical man went from Calgary to attend to the case.

It is currently reported that Jim Campbell, formerly a partner of Dick Qinn, on a ranch at Willow creek, and who left this country suddenly two years ago on account of rumors of branding other peoples' cattle, being circulated about him, has been sent to Deer Lodge penitentiary for five years for shooting Thomas Milroy of New Chicago, Montana.

The Rev. J. J. Leach, P. H. D., Methodist minister late of Newburgh Ont., arrived with his family by No. 1 express this morning. The fire having burnt out the roots of the trees, they fell over in great heaps and were all consumed.

Mr. Forest of this town when out yesterday with a number of Ontario excursionists, met with rather a serious accident. He had hired a team from Bain & Hamilton and driven some twenty miles down the Byw River, when he stopped at a farm house for dinner. The gentleman of the house helped Mr. Forest to unitch the horse, and at the same time took the blind bridle off. Mr. Forest fearing the horse might take advantage of so much liberty, went to take hold of them, when one of them turned suddenly round and kicked him with both feet, one foot striking him on the left hip and the other on the right shoulder, just grazing Mr. Forest's face so closely as to make his nose bleed. The kicking was very direct and very severe, the clothes being badly torn by both blows. Mr. Forest is at present confined to his room from the effects of his mishap.

Friday.

Does the fact that the Canadian Northwest Land Co. fought so hard to get their assessment reduced at the Court of Revision, mean that they intend to pay their taxes?

Quite a concourse of people assembled at the C. P. R. station this morning on arrival of the Winnipeg express to witness the debarkation of John T. Cable from that city. This party who is well known in Calgary, was attended by a military escort, and one of Her Majesty's best teams was in waiting to convey him to rooms provided for him in the largest buildings in the city.

We would remind the seekers of pleasure and wealth of the very cheap excursion from Calgary to Banff on Saturday, the 25th inst. The C. P. R. have promised to give a good, speedy train, and as it leaves here at 14 o'clock, will, if the weather be as fine as now, give a splendid chance to view the mountains by daylight. This affords a rare chance to visit the wonderful "hot springs," with ten days to return. See advertisement in HERALD and bills.

Mr. Morrison, manager for Sir John Lister Kaye, informs us that they received a message from their farm at Balgonie yesterday that their spring wheat was out in head. This is a special sowing of "Sonora" wheat that Sir John brought from California to make a start with for seed for all his farms. The seed was put in the ground in May, so the growth must have been very rapid.

Saturday.

Beautiful in the eyes of expectant waiters was the pay car which arrived in town at noon today.

No. 1 express train due from the east at 1:15 did not reach here till 4:30, it was a very heavy train.

R. was captain of the Cricket Club, and Mr. Upper of the Dominion Express Co. was captain of the baseball team. The score was 12 to 66 in favor of the baseball club.

Dr. J. D. R. Williams, for many years on the editorial staff of the "Globe," spent an hour, which was very pleasant to us, in the Herald office last evening, talking over the political battles we had fought during the long years of our acquaintance without either shedding blood or losing temper, or at least never allowing "the sun to go down on our wrath."

The Rifle Association has received a present of a silver flask from Mrs. Reilly of the Royal Hotel, which can be seen in the window of Davidson Bros. jewellers. This is to be shot for on Monday as an extra souvenir at 200 yards, with some money prizes added. It is open to members of the Association only. Members can enter as often as they choose on payment of 50c, but can take only one prize.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Dunn, and child, and Miss Brown sister of Mrs. Dunn, left Calgary for Maple Creek by No. 2 express this morning, from which point they will travel by team to Great Falls Montana.

The Rev. Canon O'Meara, M. W. Grand Master A. F. & A. M., left Calgary for Anthracite by the C. P. R. special excursion at 14 o'clock on Saturday. From Anthracite he intended to proceed to Banff the same night, remaining at Banff till Tuesday morning.

When the Mounted Police were returning from the Pine Creek races Saturday a wheel of one of the wagons broke down about a mile from town distributing the occupants in various attitudes on terra firma. Corporal Main was rather seriously injured.

Supt. Willock of the C. P. R., gave us a call today. He is rustling up subscriptions for the very laudable purpose of helping on the Medicine Hat hospital. The gentleman says he is going to give Calgary people lots of chances to take cheap rides to Banff and other points this summer, and that he has not gone back on the garden question at the C. P. R. station if the people want to take it up.

Through some blunder or neglect there were no lights lit on the platform or in front of the C. P. R. station when the express train came in from the East at one o'clock this morning. There being no moonlight and too smoky to get any benefit from the faint sun rays in the north, passengers had to tumble and feel their way round as best they could in the dark. We feel sure the obliging station agent Mr. Fechan has only to know the fact and he will give orders that it don't occur again. Daylight relieved the situation when the three o'clock train came in.

Dominion Day in Calgary was very quietly spent. Flags were flying from many business blocks and most of the public offices. There were no public amusements beyond some ball playing, pic-nics, etc., etc. No firing of artillery or beating of drums, except the Salvation Army drum which his Satanic Majesty and the horses have got so used to that they don't scare a cent's worth at it. Business was entirely suspended, but not the business men, for they are all on deck with their weather eye open this morning. Everybody and his wife were out of town.

Mr. Wm. Hendrie, of Hamilton the great railway contractor and founder of railway cartage system in Canada and the States, returned to Calgary on Friday evening from a short trip through the ranches and farms south of this town. He expressed himself to a Herald reporter as perfectly astonished at the development in the country as well as in the town. To our reporter he said—"Yes I remember only a little over five years ago walking with you over the prairie where this fine town now stands when there were no buildings but Baker's old log store and the old log barracks and of farming country there was none. Only the great distance from my home at Hamilton prevents me from at once starting a horse breeding ranch. If I had such an establishment I would want to visit often." Mr. Hendrie owns more horses, in actual work than any other man in Canada.

Very Sudden Death.

(From Friday's Daily.)

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Gordon of Seattle, formerly of Regina, arrived by No. 2 express this morning at Calgary. The lady had been unwell for some time, having suffered from severe attacks of illness on two occasions recently. In hope of improving her health the husband decided to take his wife on a trip back to Regina. They stopped over at Vancouver with friends for two or three days, and again at Kamloops they remained a day with relatives. Leaving there yesterday morning on the regular train, arriving as stated, at Calgary this morning. They were met at the station by their son-in-law, Mr. H. Ross, of the Herald. When they arrived at the station she felt as well as she had for some time. The party that Mr. Ross had arranged with to convey them to his house, did not arrive on time, and Mrs. Gordon, thinking she was quite able to walk to the house, started with her husband and Mr. Ross down McTavish street. On reaching a point about the Turf Club the lady was suddenly seized with a fit or fainting spell. Mr. Ross went at once for a rig to convey her to his house, but before he got back, the unfortunate woman had been placed in the conveyance of Mr. Slingaby, the mail messenger. She was taken to Mr. Ross' house, Dr. Lafferty was in almost immediate attendance, but she was passed human skill. She expired at 8:15 a. m., never having spoke or recognized anyone, from the time she took ill till she died. She was in her 63rd year, and leaves a husband and three daughters to mourn her sudden death. Her daughter here are, Mrs. H. F. Ross, Calgary; Mrs. J. B. Hammond, of Moosejaw and Mrs. W. H. Calender, of Wascana, Regina.

Council Meeting.

(From Friday's Daily.)

After the Council had closed their session as a Court of Revision yesterday afternoon, they resumed the Council meeting adjourned from Wednesday evening. The principal business for which the meeting was adjourned from Wednesday for, was to receive report of Fire, Water, and Light Committee on the petition of The Electric Light Co. for a ten year franchise. Mr. B. Smith appeared for the company. Mr. Smith on behalf of the Electric Light Co. consented to several minor changes, which the committee claimed they should make before the petition could be agreed to. There were some other points which Mr. Smith thought should be reserved for decision, till Mr. Braithwaite returns to town on Saturday. The main points of the scheme proposed by the Electric Co. are. First they ask for exclusive right to place and use poles on the streets for Electric Lighting purposes for ten years, if this is granted they offer to reduce the cost to private consumers 27 per cent below what is now charged, and to reduce the cost of street lighting 33 per cent. The Council not be bound to make contract for street lighting for more than a year at a time. Mr. Smith objected to being asked to put the wires underground at the end of five years should the population increase so the council would think it necessary to do so. A letter was read from Mr. P. A. Prince manager of the Eau Claire and Bow River Lumber Co. Asking the privilege of erecting poles on the streets of Calgary for electric lighting purposes, and giving a schedule of prices at which he would furnish Incandescent Light for private and public uses. The rates quoted are by the calendar month, and are to burn from dark till 7 o'clock in the morning, when ever wanted, without extra charge.

32 Candle power lamps	$2.50
16 do do do	1.25
13 do do do	1.15
10 do do do	1.05
8 do do do	.95
4 do do do	.80

Mr. Prince was called before the Council and answered a great many questions asked him by the Mayor and Councilors. Amongst the questions asked were these:

"Will your works be within the town limits and subject to taxation?"

"Yes."

"Do you want any monopoly?"

"No I just want the privilege of putting up and using poles so long as I furnish light at the above rates or less. I expect to be able to furnish it much cheaper as soon as I get 'water power.'"

"Would you make special contracts for churches and other places where the light is only used occasionally?"

"Yes, I will quote special rates before you grant my request, if you wish. Mr. Prince said as he had just come from the Mountains that morning, he had not had time to go fully into details."

Mr. Prince then withdrew.

The Council after discussing minor matters, decided to allow the whole Electric Light question to stand over till the next regular meeting of the Council.
